

Here's how New York State's JDA can lower your costs and help your business grow.

New York Job
Development Authority

New York State's Job Development Authority ("JDA") is a tool for economic development in New York State which can reduce private financing exposure. JDA can finance up to forty percent of your firm's project costs to help you grow your business, build new plants, and acquire machinery and equipment. Within economically distressed communities, JDA's participation can be increased to up to sixty percent of project costs. Private financing and your business equity will provide the balance of project funding.

The primary purpose of JDA is to assist New York State businesses in expanding, relocating, or modernizing their facilities in the State. Companies engaged in manufacturing, distribution, warehousing, and certain service industries are eligible to receive funding for the purchase of land, construction and/ or renovation of facilities, and the purchase of machinery and equipment.

New York's JDA is just one more way we are here to help you and your business succeed and grow.

Listen to just a few of the many small business owners throughout New York State who have taken advantage of the low cost financing JDA offers:
